

Opinion Writing Scoring Rubric

CONTENT SELECTION AND ORGANIZATION (15) (What is said and whether it is said where it corresponds)

TOPIC SENTENCE/INTRODUCTORY PARAGRAPH The TS/IP clearly establishes the topic to be discussed along the paragraph/essay and PROVIDES THE WRITER'S OPINION.

The TS/IP opens the paragraph/essay effectively (i.e., it clearly introduces the topic), grabs attention, and invites to continue reading. The writer's opinion is clearly established here. 4.5

The TS/IP does not effectively introduce the topic (i.e., it is not clear what the rest of the paragraph/essay is going to be about), is dull and uninviting, and/or does not include the writer's opinion. 2.5

There is no TS/IP establishing the topic. Instead, the writer jumps directly into opinion. 0

SUPPORTING SENTENCES/SUPPORTING PARAGRAPHS The body of the paragraph: SSs/SPs develop TS/IP with facts, details, and/or examples. All SSs/SPs must relate to TS/IP (i.e., no irrelevant facts, details, or examples should be included). Relationship of each SS/SP to TS/IP must be clearly indicated with connecting words. Same applies to relationship of one SS/SP to next (or previous) one.

There are two to four fully developed SSs (or two fully developed paragraphs), with relevant facts, details, and/or examples. The relationship of each SS/SP to the TS/IP and to other SSs/SPs (prior or next) is clearly established via the corresponding connecting words. 6

The SSs/SPs are unequally developed. Some are neatly packed with relevant facts, details, and/or examples while others resemble neutral statements instead of arguments in support of the opinion initially established. The candidate has aimed at establishing a relationship between the SSs/SPs and the TS/IP and among the SSs/SPs themselves, successfully in some cases and unsuccessfully in others (i.e., correct or incorrect use of connecting words). 4.5

There are more than four SSs or more than two SPs, but they are not sufficiently or clearly developed with relevant facts, details, and/or examples. There is no attempt (i.e., no use of connecting words) to establish the relationship between the SSs/SPs and the TS/IP or among the SSs/SPs themselves. 3

The body of the paragraph/essay is constituted by one, excessively long SS/SP or, on the contrary, of a series of short and/or disconnected SSs/SPs (e.g., no connecting words or incorrect connecting words). The SS(s)/SP(s) do not provide enough facts, details, or examples to develop the TS/IP or seem unrelated to it. The relationship of each SS/SP and the TS/IP and among the different SSs/SPs is not established or is not clear. 1.5

CLOSING SENTENCE/CLOSING PARAGRAPH The CS/CP must restate the writer's opinion (and, if possible, the main arguments put forward for this opinion) and include a call to action. Overall, the conclusion must contribute to convince the reader of the writer's opinion.

The CS/CP a) restates the writer's opinion introduced in the TS/IP in a new, more insightful manner and new words and, if possible, (i.e., if word count allows), summarizes the main arguments, and b) includes a call to action. It neatly ends the paragraph/essay and reinforces the writer's opinion. 4.5

The CS/CP a) does not restate the writer's opinion or repeats it in basically the same words as those used in the TS/IP, and b) does not sum up the main arguments or does not include a call to action. Overall, it fails to reinforce the writer's opinion and close the paragraph. 2.5

There is no CS/CP. The paragraph/essay ends while still providing arguments in support of the writer's opinion. Thus, there is no sense of closure to the paragraph/essay whatsoever. 0

A variety of topic-related words/phrases is used. These w/p draw pictures in the reader's mind and may even linger there. Occasionally, however, some of those w/p are used inaccurately or seem overdone.	7.5
Topic-related words/phrases have not been sufficiently developed (i.e., there are not enough of them to capture the reader's interest, or their use is incorrect). Word choice is vague and/or repetitive (i.e., w/p communicate clearly, but the paragraph lacks variety, punch, and/or flair).	5
No topic-related words or phrases are used, or they are used incorrectly. Word choice is bland, repetitive, limited, and fails to accurately present the arguments supporting the writer's opinion; it also fails to communicate meaning at the denotative/representative level.	2.5

NOTE 1: To use this rubric correctly, a level of performance (left column) for each sub-criterion (e.g., Grammar, within “Use of English”) must be selected and its corresponding score (right column) added up.

NOTE 2: This specific scoring rubric is to be used with candidate answers which meet the requirements of Task 5 in terms of number of words (between 150 and 175 words). To score answers between 120 and 110 words and answers shorter than 100 words, users will have to apply the corresponding modifications in the allowance of marks in the different sections of the rubric, following indications provided in the document “Criterios de corrección”.

NOTE 3: In the exam, texts which do not persuade (i.e., provide arguments supporting the writer’s opinion) will be scored with 0 marks for lack of task accomplishment. “0 marks. Task not accomplished” will be written below the candidate’s answer on the answer sheet.

NOTA 3: En el examen, los textos que no sean claramente de opinión (es decir, que no presenten una única opinión en relación al tema propuesto en el enunciado y argumenten/defiendan esta única opinión con un número determinado de argumentos) serán calificados con 0 puntos por no realizar la tarea que se requiere. Serán igualmente calificados con 0 puntos aquellos textos que sí sean claramente de opinión, pero no respondan al tema propuesto en el enunciado. En el cuadernillo, junto a la respuesta proporcionada para este ejercicio, aparecerá la calificación “0 puntos. Tarea no realizada”.
